

ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENTIST

Habitat Management Inc. (HMI) is a multi-disciplinary natural resource consulting firm specializing in land reclamation, regulatory permitting, vegetation, soils, wetlands, and wildlife baseline surveys. We primarily serve the mineral extraction industry, but also serve other private sector clients, including commercial land developers and local governments. HMI is headquartered in Englewood, Colorado, with offices in Gillette and Sheridan, Wyoming, and Albuquerque, New Mexico. This position is based in Gillette, Wyoming.

Job Description

This position is primarily geared to field collection of vegetation, wetland, soil, and wildlife data. Responsibilities will include GPS navigation and GIS data collection, analysis, and reporting. Operation and maintenance of ATVs and 4x4 vehicles is necessary. This work is physically demanding and requires technical competence. Work is often conducted on active surface mine sites, remote locations, and under variable outdoor conditions. Field work may include travel throughout Wyoming and Colorado.

Job Requirements

- A minimum of a B.S./B.A. in natural sciences (range management, botany, ecology, soils, wildlife, watershed science, natural resource management, or similar field). An M.S. is a plus.
- Understanding of environmental permitting and associated federal and state regulations is desired, including: SMCRA, NEPA, CWA, and ESA.
- Strong technical writing and oral communication skills.
- Computer proficiency with Microsoft Office, ArcGIS, ArcPad, and/or AutoCAD Map.
- Ability to navigate using GPS and maps.
- Excellent time and budget management skills.
- Must enjoy working for a small business with a fast-paced, multifaceted work environment. Must have a demonstrated ability to lead project teams as well as an ability to work independently.

Compensation

HMI offers a competitive benefits package including full medical coverage, cell phone, paid holidays and vacation, and 401(k) retirement plan. Salary will be commensurate with experience. HMI will consider expense reimbursement for relocation to Gillette, WY.

Closing Date

The position is open until filled.
